THE MOST HOLY BODY & BLOOD OF CHRIST - JUNE 3, 2018

Parish Council message...

- The Parish Council, Church Building Team, and Finance Council are continuing to work hard and closely with the parish's Architect, Liturgical Design Consultant and General Contractor as we prepare our presentation to the Diocesan Building Commission (DBC) on June 12, 2018. This presentation will contain architectural drawings, a timeline of work since 3/11/16, and summaries of the activities of the various committees, councils and volunteers involved in this exciting process to build a new worship space with accompanying facilities for the parishioners of St. Mary's Parish. In addition, the presentation to the DBC will include the various changes, recommendations and adaptations incorporated into the design based on parishioner feedback and discussions of the DBC's expectations. Because this will be a presentation regarding the entire St. Mary's Parish campus, a portion of it will include possible financing options and the needs of St. Mary's School.
- The Parish Council is very grateful for all of your work, support and prayers.

On Liturgy – Holy Communion

--Chris Calderone

The Solemnity of the Most Holy Body and Blood of Christ – perhaps known better as, "Corpus Christi" – was declared a feast day in the 13th century by Pope Urban IV, but the celebration of the Eucharist dates back, of course, to the Last Supper shared by Jesus and his apostles. This first Eucharist, and Corpus Christi, have given rise over the centuries to Eucharistic processions, which in turn gave rise to elaborate monstrances, which are now commonly used during Eucharistic Adoration. These devotional practices orient us to the greater sacrament of Holy Communion, and it is this sacrament which remains the primary focus of the Church and of most church designs.

Despite the frequency with which we celebrate Holy Communion at Mass, the details that help a community celebrate this sacrament well should not be overlooked! "Communion" requires community, and a large, accessible worship space to gather the entire community together. We engage in our own "Eucharistic procession" when we come forward in spacious, well-planned aisles to receive Communion from Eucharistic Ministers who have adequate space to facilitate the gracious flow of the assembly in procession. Of course, the altar is of primary significance in this sacrament, and should stand as a "center of thanksgiving" for the Eucharist, visible by the whole gathered community. As much as we receive Holy Communion, every celebration of this sacrament should be a true celebration!
